

I.I.S. NEWSLETTER

A WORD FROM OUR BELOVED PRINCIPAL

Ramadan Kareem to All,

In celebration of the Holy month of Ramadan I would like to wish our dear parents and students a blessed Ramadan. May our prayers be accepted and the Almighty Allah will hopefully keep us on the right path.

Last but not the least, we endeavor for our students to be able to engage and accept responsibility as influential leaders and to be respectable citizens in society. I look forward to seeing the staff and students for the 2010/2011 academic year.

-ZIAD JADALLAH

EDITOR'S LETTER

It's that time of the year when we all observe the blessed Holy month of Ramadan during the day and take part in the fantastic iftar's available at night. I know that Ramadan this year will be a bit challenging due to the extremely hot weather and long hours of fasting but Ramadan is a blessing from Allah to all Muslims.

Each year practicing Muslims around the world look forward to Ramadan for different reasons; the opportunity to focus on their spirituality, their relationship with Allah, getting closer with family and friends, or for whatever other reasons we may have.

This month of fasting and worship is also the month where Allah Almighty will hopefully forgive us. My advice to you is to enjoy the festive time of the year and plan to take advantage of the short working hours to spend with your family. I hope that you all will have a pleasant spiritual fulfilling Ramadan may Allah accept your and our prayers.

I.I.S. VISION

At I.I.S. we perceive our students as olive trees that are watered by science and knowledge growing with success and honor. They do not lean against challenges and are not beaten by difficulties. They will be a corner stone in modeling the future, nurtured with a sense of cultural and ethical awareness.

I.I.S. MISSION

Our mission is to instill knowledge in all of our students and the necessary skills to thrive as life-long learners and responsible citizen. Confident, cooperative and prepared to meet the challenges of the future. I.I.S. students will work together as one to be able to shape up a better future, loving community and well raised generations through participation and mutual responsibility.

Managing Your Study Time

There are only so many hours in a day, a week, and a term. You cannot change the number of hours, but you can decide how to best use them. To be successful in school, you must carefully manage your study time. Here is a strategy for doing this.

Prepare a Term Calendar

At the beginning of a term, prepare a Term Calendar. Update it as the term goes on. Here is what to do to prepare a Term Calendar.

- Record your school assignments with their due dates and your scheduled tests.
- Record your planned school activities.

- Record your known out-of-school activities.

Prepare a Weekly Schedule

Each Sunday before a school week, prepare a Weekly Schedule. Update it as the week goes on. Here is what to do to prepare a Weekly Schedule.

Schedule is what to do to prepare a Weekly Schedule.

- Record your daily classes
- Enter things to be done for the coming week from your Term Calendar
- Review your class notes from the previous week to see if you need to add any school activities
- Add any out-of-school activities in which you will be involved during the week.

- Be sure to include times for completing assignments, working on projects, and studying for tests.

These times may be during the school day, right after school, evenings, and weekends

Prepare a Daily Organizer

Each evening before a school day, prepare a Daily Organizer for the next day. Place a ✓ next to each thing to do as you accomplish it. Here is what to do to prepare a Daily Organizer.

- Enter the things to do for the coming day from your weekly Schedule.
- Enter the things that still

Need to be accomplished from your Daily Organizer from the previous day

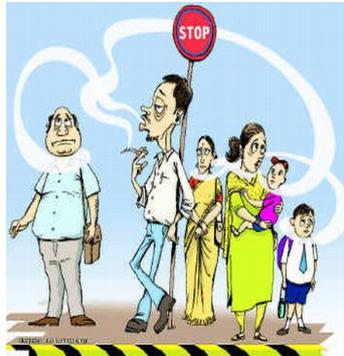

- Review your class notes for the day just completed to see if you need to add any school activities
- Add any out-of-school activities in which you will be involved the next day.

Your Weekly Schedule should have more detail than Your Term Calendar. Your Daily Organizer should have more detail than your Weekly Schedule. Using a Term Calendar, a Weekly Schedule, and a Daily Organizer will help you make the best use of your time. We wish you all the best in your studies!!!!

Negative Effects Of Smoking

Whether you smoke 5 cigarettes a day or 50, there is no doubt that smoking is extremely bad for you and will seriously affect your health in some way.

Smoking cigarettes can harm almost every organ in your body, from top to bottom and inside and out. Moreover, it is only now that doctors are beginning to discover the true extent of the harm that smoking can cause to a person's health and to the health of those around him.

Smoking over a prolonged period of time can cause a number of serious diseases and illnesses, some fatal and others that will not kill you but will leave you with a poorer quality of life in general.

Usually a person takes up smoking when they are young and the effects that smoking may have on their health does not enter their head at the time. Within a short while, they will become addicted to nicotine and it will be too late to give up. The younger a person starts to smoke, the greater the health risks they will face later on in life.

The majority of people who die from smoking will have suffered from one of three main diseases: lung cancer, coronary heart disease or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. The main health risks in tobacco smoking pertain to diseases of the respiratory tract (particularly lung cancer) and also to diseases of the cardiovascular system, in particular smoking being a major risk factor for a myocardial infarction (heart attack). Cancers of the larynx and tongue are also important causes of mortality and morbidity

Heart:

The effects of cigarette smoking on the cardiovascular system are multi-fold: Smoking lowers HDL cholesterol ("good" cholesterol). Those who smoke a pack of cigarettes a day have almost two and a half times the risk for having a stroke as nonsmokers.

Cancer:

Smoking is the cause of nearly 85 percent of all cases of lung cancer, but smoking accounts for other types of cancers as well. Smokers have higher rates of leukemia, and cancers of the stomach, bladder, kidney and pancreas. About 30 percent of cervical cancers have been attributed to smoking.

Bones and joints:

Smoking has many negative effects on bones and joints since it impairs formation of new bone. Women who smoke are at an exceptionally high risk for developing osteoporosis. Smokers are also more disposed to developing degenerative disorders injuries in the spine.

Bad skin:

It can prevent oxygen and nutrients from getting to the skin - which is why smokers often appear pale and unhealthy.

Bad Breath:

All those cigarettes leave smokers with a condition called halitosis, or persistent bad breath.

Bad-smelling clothes and hair:

The smell of stale smoke tends to linger - not just on people's clothing, but on their hair, furniture, and cars. And it's often hard to get the smell of smoke out.

Greater risk of injury and slower healing time:

Smoking affects the body's ability to produce collagen, so common sports injuries, such as damage to tendons and ligaments will heal more slowly in smokers than nonsmokers.

Smoking commonly begins with teens that start smoking because they believe it makes them seem more mature, cool, and rebellious or because they believe that it helps them relax. Unfortunately smoking is addictive. Beginning smoking as a teen will lead to a long life of bad problems and if you don't smoke, and don't start you will save yourself from death.

Cloning

We all know that nobody can create living organisms with a soul other than the creator himself. However, some people have attempted to do so. Cloning has many forms. However, "Human Cloning" is considered to be the most interesting. Human cloning is the creation of a genetically identical copy of a human cell or human tissue. The ethics of cloning is an extremely controversial issue.

Human cloning is the creation of a genetically identical copy of a human cell or human tissue. The ethics of cloning is an extremely controversial issue. The term is generally used to refer to artificial human cloning; human clones in the form of identical twins are commonplace with their cloning occurring during the natural process of reproduction. There are two commonly discussed types of human cloning: Therapeutic Cloning and Reproductive Cloning. Therapeutic Cloning involves cloning cells from an adult for use in medicine and is in an active area of research, while reproductive would involve making cloned humans. Such reproductive cloning has not been performed and is illegal in many countries. A third type of cloning called Replacement Cloning is a theoretical Cloning is a theoretical possibility, and would be a combination of therapeutic and reproductive cloning. Replacement cloning would entail the replacement of an extensively damaged, failed, or failing body through cloning followed by a whole partial brain transplant. The Middle East's first cloned goat was born in the central city of Isfahan, Iran. Producing the cloned goat was born in the central city of Isfahan, Iran. Producing the cloned goat, called by a whole partial brain transplant. The Middle East had a role in the cloning sector as well. However, they took a different approach, and cloned animal instead of humans. The Middle East's first cloned goat was born in the central city of Isfahan, Iran. Producing the cloned goat, called Hana, in the Royan research site, made Iran the Royan research site, made Iran the 5th country after the US, Canada, Britain and China that has managed to have a cloned goat, said the Head of Royan Isfahan-branch institute . Hana born after 147 days of gestation and in full health, is different from goats because of her russet and white wool.

Fever in Children

You've probably experienced waking in the middle of the night to find your child flushed, hot, and sweaty. Your little one's forehead feels warm. You immediately suspect a fever, but are unsure of what to do next. Should you get out the thermometer? Call the doctor?

In healthy kids, fevers usually don't indicate anything serious. Although it can be frightening when your child's temperature rises, fever itself causes no harm and can actually be a good thing — it's often the body's way of fighting infections. And not all fevers need to be treated. High fever, however, can make a child uncomfortable and worsen problems such as dehydration.

It's important to remember that fever by itself is not an illness — it's usually a symptom of an underlying problem. Fever has a few potential causes.

Infection: Most fevers are caused by infection or other illness. Fever helps the body fight infections by stimulating natural defense mechanisms.

Overdressing: Infants, especially newborns, may get fevers if they're over bundled or in a hot environment because they don't regulate their body temperature as well as older kids. However, because fevers in newborns can indicate a serious infection, even infants who are overdressed must be evaluated by a doctor if they have a fever.

they're over bundled or in a hot environment because they don't regulate their body temperature as well as older kids. However, because fevers in newborns can indicate a serious infection, even infants who are overdressed must be evaluated by a doctor if they have a fever.

Immunizations: Babies and kids sometimes get a low-grade fever after getting vaccinated.

Teething: It may cause a slight rise in body temperature, but it's probably not the cause if a child's temperature is higher than 37.8°C

When Fever Is a Sign of Something Serious?

If your child is between 3 months and 3 years old and has a fever of 39°C or higher, call your doctor to see if he or she needs to see your child. For older kids, take behavior and activity level into account. The illness is probably not serious if your child:

- Is still interested in playing.
- Is eating and drinking well.
- Has a normal skin color.
- Looks well when his or her temperature comes down.
- Don't worry too much about a child with a fever who doesn't want to eat. This is very common with infections that cause fever. For kids who still drink and urinate normally, not eating as much as usual is OK.

Is it a Fever?

- Use a reliable thermometer to confirm a fever (which is when a child's temperature is at or above one of these levels):
- 38°C measured rectally (in the bottom).
- 37.5°C measured orally (in the mouth).
- 37.2°C measured in an auxiliary position (under the arm).

Types of Thermometers:

Whatever thermometer you choose, be sure you know how to use it correctly to get an accurate reading. Keep and follow the manufacturer's recommendations for any thermometer.

Digital thermometers, Electronic ear thermometers, Plastic strip thermometers, Forehead thermometers, Pacifier thermometers, Glass mercury thermometers.

When to Call the Doctor?

The exact temperature that should trigger a call to the doctor depends on the age of the child, the illness, and whether there are the following symptoms .

Blue lips, tongue, or nails.

Infant's soft spot on the head seems to be bulging outward or sunken inward.

Stiff neck, Severe headache, Limpness or refusal to move, Difficulty breathing that doesn't get better when the nose is cleared, Leaning forward and drooling, Seizures, Abdominal pain.

Prevention of Fever:

The best way to prevent fevers is to reduce exposure to infectious diseases.

Teach your children to vigorously wash their hand and to carry hand sanitizer When they don't have access to soap and water.

In addition, teach your children to turn away from others and to cover their mouths when coughing and their noses when sneezing. When possible, teach your kids not to touch their noses, mouths or eyes — the main way viral infections are transmitted. Your child's wellbeing is crucial please be sure to comfort and take care of them.

The I.I.S. Visit the Golden Age Senior Citizen Home

Some of the I.I.S. student delegates, a group of teachers and parents went on a trip to visit the Golden Age Senior Citizens Home in Al-Jwayda. The delegates provided the senior citizens with nutritious food and some other necessities with the donations that were raised from the two charity bazaars that were held early this month at the I.I.S. premises for this particular thoughtful event. The students also gave a helpful hand to the senior citizens in feeding them lunch.

The I.I.S. Celebrates the Al-Karamah Ceremony

The I.I.S. celebrated the memory of the Al-Karamah immortal battle; the celebration included an extremely touching speech about the oratorical battle and the significance of the pride and allegiance of the inspiring Hashemite leadership which makes Jordan an oasis of security and stability, Al-Karamah battle materialized one of the bravest and most wonderful triumphs in the defense for its beautiful land. The Nashmi army became a legend and proved to be one of the undefeatable bravest Arabic armies. A number of students performed a variety of artistic national songs for the immortal memory of Al-Karamah Battle.

The I.I.S. Holy Umrah Trip

The I.I.S. organized a religious trip to the Holy house, under the supervision of Mr. Abdullah Abu-Hassan many students participated in this trip. This special spiritual trips aim was to help the students understand the tasks and modesty of the holy Umrah. As soon as the students arrived to the Holy city of Mecca they performed the Umrah rituals and after a couple of days they went to the Holy city of Al-Medina to visit Prophet Muhammad (P.B.U.H.) and the Prophetic Mosque. The students visited the most important religious and historical sites of both the Holy cities of Mecca and Al-Medina. We hope that Allah will accept their Umrah.

The I.I.S. Honors a Number of Exceptional Mothers

A number of I.I.S. employees and students participated in the honoring of a number of some exceptional mothers; in this lovely heartwarming celebration a number of students presented a variety of purposeful, touching, and artistic dramatic plays that were pertained for this extremely momentous occasion. Millions of people across the globe take the day as an opportunity to honor their mothers, thank them for their efforts in giving them life, raising them and being their constant support and well wishers. We pray that all of our mothers will be prosperous forevermore.

Prince of Persia: The Sands Of Time

The upcoming movie, Prince of Persia, starring Jake Gyllenhaal has garnered a lot of attention in recent weeks. Prince of Persia: The Sands of Time" (based on the video game of the same name) which is modeled off of the popular video game that was created by Canadian based company Ubisoft, has been made into a movie. Set in the mystical lands of Persia, a rogue prince reluctantly joins forces with a mysterious princess and together, they race against dark forces to safeguard an ancient dagger capable of releasing the Sands of Time - a gift from the gods that can reverse time and allow its possessor to rule the world. Many game movies have failed to create compelling story lines, and are often written off as low budget films for the fans of the video game franchise. Prince of Persia, may be the first video game movie to successfully turn itself into a budding film franchise. The film is one of the best adaptations that have been released in recent years. The film features a number of visually stunning CGI scenes that rival Avatar, and other recently heralded movies that boasted amazing visuals. Two thumbs up It's worth seeing!!!

Harry Potter and the Deathly Hollows

By: J.K. Rowling

The final installment in author J.K. Rowling's Magnus opus of a boy wizard's epic fight against the evil Lord Voldemort. The Deathly Hallows is a grand finale. It is a fitting conclusion, filled with darkness and triumph that will have Potter fans rejoicing. Rowling's narrative

Is spellbinding, every page seamlessly flowing into the next. She skillfully takes ten years and seven novels to a climax worthy of literary greatness. An incredible body of work at the end of the day it's a fantastic read and that's all that you want in a great book.

Shrek 4ever After

In the fourth film, Shrek is feeling over-domesticated. He has lost his roar. He used to send villagers running away in terror. Now they run to him and ask him to sign their pitchforks and torches. To regain his ogre mojo, he strikes a deal with Rumpelstiltskin the wee troublemaker. The pact goes awry and Shrek must confront what life would be like in Far Far Away if he had never existed. Where Rumpelstiltskin is king, ogres are hunted, donkey being forced into cart-pulling duty, fat and lazy Puss in Boots trading his sword for a pink bow and where Shrek and Fiona have never met he sets out to restore his world and reclaim his true love.
